Warehousing Market Insights

Lucintel forecasts that general will remain the largest segment over the forecast period due to the expanding need for storage for preparing chemical compounds, particularly speciality chemicals, must be processed in warehouses before being delivered to various end use industries, such as automotive, consumer goods, and retail.

Manufacturing is expected to witness highest growth over the forecast period due to the increasing number of products need to be stored for exportation from both established and developing nations.

North America will remain the largest region due to the supporting government initiatives to build modern warehouses with integrated capabilities such as Web Map Service (WMS) functionality for order fulfilment, barcode scanning, and improved inventory management in the region.
