Abstracts

Dentistry is an ever-evolving healthcare segment, with numerous technologies being researched, developed, tried and commercialized to improve therapy outcomes. Growing number of dental clinics is in turn driving adoption of dental lasers, computer-aided design and computer-aided manufacturing (CAD/CAM) systems, dental radiology equipment, and other laboratory equipment.

Improvements in the field of dental biomaterials and tissue regenerative material have enabled the dentists to offer more natural and longtime dental solutions. Dentists are now educating their patients about dental products, which has helped in improving customer awareness about products and the latest available technologies. Changing consumer needs and a shift towards cosmetic dentistry will drive the market for hi-end dental solutions.
