Abstracts

Polytetrafluoroethylene or PTFE was accidentally discovered in 1938 by an employee of DuPont, an American chemicals manufacturer. This thermoplastic polymer was found to have unique properties to resist friction, temperature, chemical degradation, mechanical action and electrical charge. Today, PTFE technology can be found in a wide range of applications, from high-tech aerospace mobility enhancing dry film lubricant, to non-stick frying pan surfaces. Other applications include self-lubricated PTFE used in moving machinery, high performance films, protective fabrics against environmental hazards (such as chemical and microbial attack) medical devices and filter materials (media). This report elaborates the market size, market characteristics, and market growth of the Expanded Polytetrafluoroethylene industry, and breaks down according to the type, application, and consumption area of Expanded Polytetrafluoroethylene. The report also conducted a PESTEL analysis of the industry to study the main influencing factors and entry barriers of the industry.

In Chapter 3.4 of the report, the impact of the COVID-19 outbreak on the industry was fully assessed. Fully risk assessment and industry recommendations were made for Expanded Polytetrafluoroethylene in a special period. This chapter also compares the markets of Pre COVID-19 and Post COVID-19.
