Abstracts

Plating processes (including Nickel Plating) have been used for hundreds of years to help strengthen metal against corrosion and wear as well as to add aesthetic flair to an otherwise dull appearance. Various plating methods employ either electric or chemical methods of dispersing a thin layer of metal coating on a metal substrate. Electric processes use a slight metal current in a chemical bath. As the electricity passes through a wire onto the substrate, the oxidation process disperses metal flakes and salts in an even layer coating. Electroless processes simply employ a chemical reaction to produce similar, stable results.

This report elaborates the market size, market characteristics, and market growth of the Nickel Plating industry, and breaks down according to the type, application, and consumption area of Nickel Plating. The report also conducted a PESTEL analysis of the industry to study the main influencing factors and entry barriers of the industry.

In Chapter 3.4 of the report, the impact of the COVID-19 outbreak on the industry was fully assessed. Fully risk assessment and industry recommendations were made for Nickel Plating in a special period. This chapter also compares the markets of Pre COVID-19 and Post COVID-19.
