Abstracts

Pectin (from Ancient Greek: ????????? p?ktik?s, 'congealed, curdled') is a structural heteropolysaccharide contained in the primary cell walls of terrestrial plants. It was first isolated and described in 1825 by Henri Braconnot. It is produced commercially as a white to light brown powder, mainly extracted from citrus fruits, and is used in food as a gelling agent, particularly in jams and jellies. It is also used in dessert fillings, medicines, sweets, as a stabilizer in fruit juices and milk drinks, and as a source of dietary fiber. This report elaborates the market size, market characteristics, and market growth of the Pectin industry, and breaks down according to the type, application, and consumption area of Pectin. The report also conducted a PESTEL analysis of the industry to study the main influencing factors and entry barriers of the industry.

In Chapter 3.4 of the report, the impact of the COVID-19 outbreak on the industry was fully assessed. Fully risk assessment and industry recommendations were made for Pectin in a special period. This chapter also compares the markets of Pre COVID-19 and Post COVID-19.
