Abstracts

Closure devices are used to close a defect or an opening between the right and left sides of the heart. A patent foramen ovale (PFO) means the foramen ovale did not close properly at birth, so there is still an opening in the septum. In most cases, the PFO does not stay open at all times. Instead, it's more like a flap that opens when there is higher pressure than normal in the chambers on the right side of the heart. Situations that can cause greater pressure include straining during bowel movements, coughing and sneezing. When the pressure gets high enough, blood may move from the right atrium to the left atrium.

This report elaborates the market size, market characteristics, and market growth of the PFO Closure Device industry, and breaks down according to the type, application, and consumption area of PFO Closure Device. The report also conducted a PESTEL analysis of the industry to study the main influencing factors and entry barriers of the industry.

In Chapter 3.4 of the report, the impact of the COVID-19 outbreak on the industry was fully assessed. Fully risk assessment and industry recommendations were made for PFO Closure Device in a special period. This chapter also compares the markets of Pre COVID-19 and Post COVID-19.
