Abstracts

Shipping and Logistics are often used interchangeably despite having major differences between them. Understanding the difference between shipping and logistics is important for good business.

Beginning with shipping, simply put it is the transfer or movement of goods from one place to another.

Logistics on the other hand, consists of several other smaller areas of specializations, one of which is shipping. These include material handling, warehousing, packaging and more. Logistics involves both the integration and management of these smaller areas in order to minimize costs and improve overall operations for businesses.

Though Logistics has a wider scope and scale, both have their own share of importance in the supply chain management process. And both require effort on the business' part for smooth functioning.
This report elaborates the market size, market characteristics, and market growth of the Shipping and Logistics industry, and breaks down according to the type, application, and consumption area of Shipping and Logistics. The report also conducted a PESTEL analysis of the industry to study the main influencing factors and entry barriers of the industry.

In Chapter 3.4 of the report, the impact of the COVID-19 outbreak on the industry was fully assessed. Fully risk assessment and industry recommendations were made for Shipping and Logistics in a special period. This chapter also compares the markets of Pre COVID-19 and Post COVID-19.
