Abstracts

A facial mask is a creamy mask applied to clean or smooth the face. It often contains minerals, vitamins, and fruit extracts, such as cactus and cucumber. There are different kinds of masks for different purposes; some are deep cleansing for cleaning the pores. Deep-cleansing masks remove excess oil and dirt along with dead skin cells to give the skin a smoother texture and healthy glow. There are two types of masks: wash-off (usually clay-based) and peel-off (a liquid film which dries to a peelable sheet). Because clay masks are effective oil absorbers, they're best for oily or combination skins.
