Abstracts

Bench-Top Autoclaves are small capacity sterilizers which, because of their size, can be positioned on a work bench, table top or raised surface. Generally of a front-loading design, in the laboratory they are routinely used for sterilizing culture media, laboratory waste ('discard'), glassware and other apparatus. Typically benchtop autoclaves (sometimes referred to as tabletop autoclaves) are used in microbiology laboratories in many sectors, including the food and beverage industries, pharmaceuticals, universities and research establishments. Because of their flexibility, small size autoclaves also have a clinical application and are therefore often used in medical surgeries, dentists, and veterinary practices.

Based on the Bench-Top Autoclaves market development status, competitive landscape and development model in different regions of the world, this report is dedicated to providing niche markets, potential risks and comprehensive competitive strategy analysis in different fields.
