Abstracts

Biomethane is also known as 'green gas', biomethane is produced from organic waste. Its properties are similar to those of natural gas, making it suitable for use as vehicle fuel and in heating applications. It also has its own specific benefits, the most important of which is its non-toxicity. Biomethane is a 100% renewable energy source produced by the natural breakdown of organic material: green waste, household waste, agricultural waste, food industry waste and even industrial waste. The process of breaking down this material in an oxygen-free environment produces biogas, which is then purified to become biomethane. This can then be used as a vehicle fuel, distributed in the mains gas supply or used to generate green power.

Based on the Biomethane market development status, competitive landscape and development model in different regions of the world, this report is dedicated to providing niche markets, potential risks and comprehensive competitive strategy analysis in different fields. From the competitive advantages of different types of products and services, the development opportunities and consumption characteristics and structure analysis of the downstream application fields are all analyzed in detail. To Boost Growth during the epidemic era, this report analyzes in detail for the potential risks and opportunities which can be focused on.
