Abstracts

Cationic starch is a modified starch. Cationic starch is mainly used as a wet end starch. Although natural starch can be used as the wet end starch, cationic starch is more preferred. Because cationic starch is positively charged, they are easily attracted by negatively charged cellulose fibers and fillers. As a result, fiber-fiber and fiber-filler adhesion increase. Therefore, the retention of fine particles and fillers is improved and the paper strength is also increased.

Cationic starch can improve paper strength, drainage, water retention, improve paper quality; reduce dust removal, lint and increase size; better control of papermaking process, thereby reducing paper web breakage, improving paper machine performance and productivity. Cationic starch also allows for the use of more fillers and more recycled fibers, thus reducing costs. As a surface sizing agent, cationic starch improves stiffness, opacity, print quality and brightness.

Based on the Cationic Starch market development status, competitive landscape and development model in different regions of the world, this report is dedicated to providing niche markets, potential risks and comprehensive competitive strategy analysis in different fields. From the competitive advantages of different types of products and services, the development opportunities and consumption characteristics and structure analysis of the downstream application fields are all analyzed in detail. To Boost Growth during the epidemic era, this report analyzes in detail for the potential risks and opportunities which can be focused on.

In Chapter 2.4 of the report, we share our perspectives for the impact of COVID-19 from the long and short term.
