Abstracts

Compound feed is a mixture of products used to feed cattle, poultry, pigs and other animals directly. There are many shapes, such as pellet feed, powder feed, liquid feed, etc. Compound feeds play a vital role in ensuring food safety throughout the livestock and aquaculture production and supply chain.

Feed additives are animal feed additives that do not provide sufficient nutrients from regular diets, so farmers provide and include vitamins, amino acids, fatty acids, minerals and the like.

Downstream compound feeds and additives are ruminants, poultry, pigs, etc. In recent years, the animal meat industry has developed rapidly. The increased demand for safe and healthy quality meat is expected to drive demand in the compound feed and additive market.
