Abstracts

Polytetrafluoroethylene or PTFE was accidentally discovered in 1938 by an employee of DuPont, an American chemicals manufacturer. This thermoplastic polymer was found to have unique properties to resist friction, temperature, chemical degradation, mechanical action and electrical charge. Today, PTFE technology can be found in a wide range of applications, from high-tech aerospace mobility enhancing dry film lubricant, to non-stick frying pan surfaces. Other applications include self-lubricated PTFE used in moving machinery, high performance films, protective fabrics against environmental hazards (such as chemical and microbial attack) medical devices and filter materials (media). Based on the Expanded Polytetrafluoroethylene market development status, competitive landscape and development model in different regions of the world, this report is dedicated to providing niche markets, potential risks and comprehensive competitive strategy analysis in different fields. From the competitive advantages of different types of products and services, the development opportunities and consumption characteristics and structure analysis of the downstream application fields are all analyzed in detail. To Boost Growth during the epidemic era, this report analyzes in detail for the potential risks and opportunities which can be focused on.

In Chapter 2.4 of the report, we share our perspectives for the impact of COVID-19 from the long and short term.
