Abstracts

In-flight advertising refers to the advertising that is meant for targeting potential on board consumers in an airline. It basically comprises commercials during in-flight entertainment programs, advertisements on boarding passes, in in-flight magazines, overhead storage bins, and setback tray tables, and sales pitches by flight attendants. The advertisements can be tailored till the destination of the traveler or various destinations of the airlines for the purpose of promoting shopping, businesses, hotels, and restaurants. Boarding pass advertising completely relies on the employment of targeted advertising technologies.
