Abstracts

Clinical trials used by children to study and develop drugs or new drugs are called pediatric clinical trials. Most clinical trials are conducted in adults and very rare clinical trials, including children. To increase the level of participation of children in clinical trials, the United States has developed a regulatory and health strategy that focuses on the overall market for drugs when incorporated into pediatric clinical trials. According to the World Bank Group, approximately 26% of the world's population includes pediatrics (children between the ages of 0-14), rather than 10 times more clinical trials for adults than pediatrics. Because of the lack of pediatric clinical trials, ethical issues, and the infrastructure of pediatric diseases are relatively lower than those found in adults, pharmaceutical companies are paying more attention to drug development in adults. Based on the Pediatric Clinical Trials market development status, competitive landscape and development model in different regions of the world, this report is dedicated to providing niche markets, potential risks and comprehensive competitive strategy analysis in different fields. From the competitive advantages of different types of products and services, the development opportunities and consumption characteristics and structure analysis of the downstream application fields are all analyzed in detail. To Boost Growth during the epidemic era, this report analyzes in detail for the potential risks and opportunities which can be focused on.

In Chapter 2.4 of the report, we share our perspectives for the impact of COVID-19 from the long and short term.
