Abstracts

Shipping and Logistics are often used interchangeably despite having major differences between them. Understanding the difference between shipping and logistics is important for good business.

Beginning with shipping, simply put it is the transfer or movement of goods from one place to another.

Logistics on the other hand, consists of several other smaller areas of specializations, one of which is shipping. These include material handling, warehousing, packaging and more. Logistics involves both the integration and management of these smaller areas in order to minimize costs and improve overall operations for businesses.

Though Logistics has a wider scope and scale, both have their own share of importance in the supply chain management process. And both require effort on the business' part for smooth functioning.

Based on the Shipping and Logistics market development status, competitive landscape and development model in different regions of the world, this report is dedicated to providing niche markets, potential risks and comprehensive competitive strategy analysis in different fields. From the competitive advantages of different types of products and services, the development opportunities and consumption characteristics and structure analysis of the downstream application fields are all analyzed in detail. To Boost Growth during the epidemic era, this report analyzes in detail for the potential risks and opportunities which can be focused on.

In Chapter 2.4 of the report, we share our perspectives for the impact of COVID-19 from the long and short term.

In chapter 3.4, we provide the influence of the crisis on the industry chain, especially for marketing channels.
