Abstracts

Tilapia usually live in fresh water and can live in shallow waters of lakes, rivers, and ponds. It can also live in salt water with different salt contents such as estuary and coastal waters. It has strong adaptability and is highly adaptable to water with less dissolved oxygen. Therefore, it has become an invasive species in many places and has been included in the list of the world's top 100 alien invasive species. Most tilapia are omnivorous, often eating plants and debris in water.

Based on the Tilapia market development status, competitive landscape and development model in different regions of the world, this report is dedicated to providing niche markets, potential risks and comprehensive competitive strategy analysis in different fields. From the competitive advantages of different types of products and services, the development opportunities and consumption characteristics and structure analysis of the downstream application fields are all analyzed in detail. To Boost Growth during the epidemic era, this report analyzes in detail for the potential risks and opportunities which can be focused on.

In Chapter 2.4 of the report, we share our perspectives for the impact of COVID-19 from the long and short term.
