Summary

“City Profile %li%Manchester” provides historical and forecast data on key city level metrics along with analytical coverage of the latest political, economic, social, technological, infrastructural, legal and environmental issues affecting Manchester.

The report contains detailed tourism, retail, construction, technology and public infrastructure data and insight into economic, social, and industry trends.

Manchester metropolitan area (Greater Manchester), is a metropolitan county in North West England in the UK. The area demonstrated steady growth and diversification across various sectors, including science, business, finance, and creative industries. Despite a slight slowdown in overall economic growth to 4.3% in 2022, Manchester city experienced favorable expansion driven by economic diversification, particularly notable in the thriving financial services, technology, and video games industries. The city aims to become a world-class hub by 2025, fostering a competitive and sustainable economy rooted in science, advanced manufacturing, and creative industries.

Scope

The service sector remains the key contributor to the area's economy and the major employer.

Manchester's tourism sector serves as a significant economic driver, buoyed by historical landmarks, sports attractions, and strategic marketing efforts. The Greater Manchester Business Tourism Strategy aims to elevate the region into a global conference hub by 2025, fostering substantial economic growth and job creation.

Manchester's construction industry has flourished, marked by major developments and regeneration projects. Strong demand for residential and commercial properties, coupled with a skilled workforce and robust ecosystem, propels the sector's growth. With substantial funding secured for community projects and an optimistic forecast for construction sector expansion, Manchester anticipates continued economic prosperity and urban development in the coming years.
