KEY HIGHLIGHTS

The government spending sector is the total amount of public sector expenditure at any sort of level, including central government, local government etc. It is split into the following segments: defense, education, social protection, healthcare, and other.

The Russian government spending sector had total revenues of $315.7bn in 2020, representing a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 8.6% between 2016 and 2020.

The social protection segment was the sector's most lucrative in 2020, with total revenues of $96.7bn, equivalent to 30.6% of the sector's overall value.

The Russian government plans to halve national poverty to 6.6% by 2030, but the country's already relatively high spending on social assistance could make achieving this goal difficult.
