KEY HIGHLIGHTS

The retail ethical investment products market is defined as the market covering any form of investment in which financial return is not the sole concern of the investor, with the ethical investments being made available to the public for personal investment as opposed to institutional investors. Ethical investments are defined as investments in which the investor's financial objectives are combined with their concerns about environmental, social and governance issues.

The UK retail ethical investment products market had total assets of $23bn in 2016, representing a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 10.7% between 2012 and 2016.

The number of funds declined with a compound annual rate of change (CARC) of -3.1% between 2012 and 2016, to reach a total of 81 funds in 2016.

Surveys conducted by Aviva found a large difference between demand for ethical investment and adviser interest. Aviva found almost half of consumers took ethical issues seriously when choosing products.
