About

Glycomics is the study of carbohydrates and carbohydrate-containing biomolecules in biological processes. The glycomics market includes enzymes, instruments, kits, and reagents used in glycomics research. Glycomics is used in diagnostics, drug discovery research, immunology, oncology, and various other applications. Glycomics products are widely used for analysis of cell surface markers, which can act as diagnostic or therapeutic targets. The global glycomics market is expected to reach $XX million by 2019 from $XX million in 2014, at a CAGR of XX% from 2014 to 2019.

The major drivers for the growth of the glycomics market are increasing government and private funding in proteomic and glycomics research, rising pharmaceutical and biotechnology R&D expenditure, growing proteomics market, and technological advancements for glycomics research. On the other hand, a major factor restraining the growth of this market is the high degree of consolidation that acts as an entry barrier for new entrants.

On the basis of products, the glycomics market is segmented into enzymes, instruments, kits, and reagents. The enzymes product segment is expected to account for the largest share of XX% of the global glycomics market in 2014. This segment is poised to reach $XX million by 2019 from $XX million in 2014, at a CAGR of XX% during the forecast period.

In the glycomics market, the enzymes product segment is further divided into glycosidases, glycosyltransferases, neuraminidases, sialyltransferases, and other enzymes. In 2014, the glycosidases segment is expected to account for the largest share of XX% of the global glycomics enzymes market. This segment is poised to reach $XX million by 2019 from $XX million in 2014, at a CAGR of XX% during the forecast period.

In the glycomics market, the kits product segment is further categorized into glycan labeling kits, glycan purification kits, glycan release kits, and other kits. In 2014, the glycan release kits segment is expected to account for the largest share of XX% of the global glycomics kits market. This segment is poised to reach $XX million by 2019 from $XX million in 2014, at a CAGR of XX% during the forecast period.

In the glycomics market, the reagents product segment is further categorized into glycoproteins, monosaccharides, oligosaccharides, and other reagents. In 2014, the oligosaccharides segment is expected to account for the largest share of XX% of the global glycomics reagents market. This segment is poised to reach $XX million by 2019 from $XX million in 2014, at a CAGR of XX% during the forecast period.

On the basis of geography, the glycomics market is segmented into Asia, Europe, North America, and the Rest of the World (RoW). The North American geographic segment is expected to command the largest share of XX% of the global glycomics market in 2014. This geographic segment is poised to reach $XX million by 2019 from $XX million in 2014, at a CAGR of XX% from 2014 to 2019.

The key industry players in the global glycomics market are Agilent Technologies (U.S.), Bruker Corporation (U.S.), Danaher Corp. (U.S.), New England Biolabs (U.S.), Prozyme Inc. (U.S.), Sigma-Aldrich Corp. (U.S.), Shimadzu Corp. (Japan), Takara Bio (Japan), Thermo Fisher Scientific (U.S.), and Waters Corporation (U.S.).
