Abstracts

Increasing number of advertising and marketing companies to drive the Rich Communication Services (RCS) market growth

The global RCS market size is projected to grow from USD 5.2 billion in 2020 to USD 11.7 billion by 2025, at a CAGR of 17.6% during 2020–2025. Major growth factors for the market include increasing investments on digital marketing across the enterprise verticals.

The COVID-19 outbreak has significantly impacted several communication service providers across the globe. Major countries from North America, Europe, APAC, MEA, and Latin America are badly affected in the pandemic and industry giants from several regions are taking initiatives to enable consumers with best quality communication services and stay connected with their network of employees and customers.

By application, advertising campaign segment to account for a higher market share during the forecast period

Advertising campaigns via digital marketing is the prominent approach adopted by enterprises to attract customers. Sharing rich media contents have enabled end-users to engage significantly with the enterprises to take benefits of the services. Advertising campaigns may vary from vertical to vertical; for instance, media and entertainment vertical would share advertisements, teasers, or some trailers of upcoming shows.

Likewise, BFSI vertical would share interactive media content to advertise funds and policies. Advertising campaigns are mainly followed through SMS protocol and are expected to be significantly offloaded on RCS protocol to enable enhanced messaging service through an interactive platform.

By end-user, enterprises segment to hold a larger market size during the forecast period

By end-users global RCS market is segregated into enterprises and consumers. The enterprises throughout verticals are expected to have a significant dependency on SMS for digital marketing. Deployment of RCS messaging platforms to share media-rich content amongst the end-users is expected to bring growing instances of customer engagements. Apart from digital marketing, RCS can be widely deployed by enterprises to share the relevant information to their customers, which would include tickets, passes, policy details, wealth performance stats, logistics details, product information, service reminders, and others.

Among regions, Asia Pacific to grow at the highest CAGR during the forecast period

APAC is expected to have the highest growth rate in the RCS market among all areas. The high rate of adoption of digital technologies, especially in countries, such as China, India, and Japan has made APAC a lucrative market in the IT industry. The growing development in these countries is expected to provide several new opportunities in the APAC RCS market. The growth driver for RCS in this region is increasing population, rising smartphone connections, increasing the mobile payments, growing the retail industry, and the use of advanced SMS systems for marketing and customer relationship management. Many mobile engagement and communications providers in this region have partnered with various telecom operators to provide rich, personalized multimedia content to their customers. For instance, Karix Mobile had partnered with Google and Reliance Jio Infocomm to support RCS. With RCS, the company helps its clients in providing a more in-depth and richer engagement experience.

Breakdown of primaries

In-depth interviews were conducted with the Chief Executive Officers (CEOs), Chief Marketing Officers (CMO), Vice Presidents (VPs), Managing Directors (MDs), technology and innovation directors, and related key executives from various key companies and organizations operating in the RCS market. The breakup of the profiles of the primary participants is given below:

About

Rich Communication Services (RCS) is an IP Multimedia Subsystem (ISP)-based platform that enables the delivery of communication services beyond the traditional voice and SMS services. It provides the MNOs with an opportunity to increase their revenues or at least preserve their existing revenues by providing consumers with enhanced communication services, such as instant messaging, chat, live video, content sharing, file transfer, IP video call, and others across devices and on any network. Mobile operators also have the opportunity to grab new revenue streams through RCS-based applications, B2B services, advertisements, promotions, and others. Customer retention, influence of social networks, global interoperability, and collaboration between carriers and benefits from investment in IMS and LTE are some of the factors driving the RCS market.

This study is done to understand the RCS market structure and is intended to help both the MNOs and infrastructure service providers in this segment. The overall RCS market in this report is defined as the summation of market values of MNOs providing RCS to their end-users and infrastructure service providers offering RCS suite/solutions/infrastructure to the MNOs.

The MNOs market size in the RCS ecosystem has been defined as the sum of the fees from various RCS. This market size has been further segmented into user type as enterprise users and consumers. The infrastructure service provider's market size in the RCS ecosystem has been defined by considering the revenues that vendors generate by providing RCS suite/solution/infrastructure to the MNOs.
