“The global superdisintegrants market is projected to grow at a CAGR of 7.9%.”

The superdisintegrants market is expected to reach USD 536.5 million by 2023 from an estimated USD 366.4 million in 2018, at a CAGR of 7.9%. The increasing adoption of orally disintegrating tablets, growing generics market, and emergence of new superdisintegrants for the pharmaceutical industry are the factors driving the market for superdisintegrants. The shifting focus of pharmaceutical manufacturing to emerging markets and the growth of the overall pharmaceutical sector in these markets present significant opportunities for the superdisintegrants market growth. However, safety and quality concerns are expected to challenge the growth of the superdisintegrants market to a certain extent during the forecast period.

“The synthetic superdisintegrants segment is expected to register the highest CAGR during the forecast period.”

By type, the superdisintegrants market is segmented into natural superdisintegrants, synthetic superdisintegrants, and other superdisintegrants. The synthetic superdisintegrants segment is further subsegmented into modified starch, cross-linked polyvinylpyrrolidone (crospovidone), modified cellulose, ion exchange resins, and calcium silicates. The synthetic superdisintegrants segment is expected to register the highest CAGR during the forecast period. This growth can be attributed to the widespread use of these superdisintegrants in various oral drug formulations, especially in orally disintegrating tablets.

“Tablet formulation segment is expected to witness the highest growth during the forecast period.”

By formulation, the superdisintegrants market is segmented into tablets and capsules. The tablets segment is expected to witness the highest CAGR owing to the widespread use of orally disintegrating tablets (ODT) and fast-disintegrating tablets among healthcare providers and patients driven by the advantages such as increasing drug bioavailability, better pregastric absorption, ease of swallowing in patients with dysphagia, ease of administration, and improved shelf life.

“APAC superdisintegrants market is projected to witness the highest growth during the forecast period.”

Europe held the largest share of the global superdisintegrants market in 2017. On the other hand, the APAC superdisintegrants market is expected to witness the highest CAGR during the forecast period, owing to the significant growth in pharmaceutical manufacturing in the past few years, low-cost manufacturing advantage, increasing per capita income, low regulatory stringency, and growing interest of key players in APAC countries.

Break of primary participants was as mentioned below:

By Company Type: Tier 1–48%, Tier 2–34% and Tier 3–18%

By Designation: C-level–42%, Director Level–40%, Others–18%
