Abstracts

The vendor comparison report on Disaster Recovery as a Service (DRaaS), based on the MnM DIVE methodology covers a detailed study of the major players offering Disaster Recovery (DR) services. The top 25 vendors of DRaaS were analyzed on the basis of their service offerings and business strategies. The vendors were shortlisted based on their service capabilities, technology innovations, industry coverage, viability, and breadth of service offerings.

The report helps stakeholders, such as DRaaS vendors, technology partners, system integrators, consultants, distributors, and value-added resellers, to make business strategies & decisions on the deployment of DR services.

MarketsandMarkets defines DRaaS as the protection and replication of company's data on physical or virtual servers to ensure business continuity in the event of manmade or natural disasters. DRaaS combines various service capabilities, such as cloud-to-cloud recovery, flexible deployment, cloud replication, and mobile backup. It is extremely useful for the Small & Medium Enterprises (SMEs) and the large enterprises that lack the expertise and are unaware of the benefits of cloud-based DR.
