About

The report brings to your attention profound analysis of Lime market in Iran. Historical, present and future trends are covered. Experts' opinions and estimations are provided.

the resources sector of Iran has long been focused on the oil & gas sector, with little attention given to its mineral potential in general, Iran's mineral industry is focused in zinc, iron ore, copper, chromites, aluminium, cement, lime and turquoise today about 90% of the mines are in state hands; Iranian Mines and Mining Industries Development and Renovation Organization is the major state-owned holding company according to official statistics, country's balance of trade is positive; Iran's export is dominated by quicklime and hydraulic lime

Iran is one of the richest countries in the world from a mining perspective and the mining sector is expected to play a principal role in the country's economy the government expects to boost the mining sector's contribution to GDP to 4% and attract foreign investment for the development of the industry in the near future both production and consumption of lime in Iran are expected to grow; demand growth will be supported by construction, chemical and metallurgical industries
