According to this latest publication from Meticulous Research™, the global adhesives market will grow at a CAGR of 4.5% during the forecast period to reach USD 53,503.0 million by 2022, driven by growing demand for consumer goods with rising urbanization & improving lifestyle; rising demands for hot melts adhesives; and growing automotive industry with rising demand for lightweight and low carbon emitted vehicles. Further, growing demand from emerging economies and increasing need for eco-friendly, low VOC, & green sustainable adhesives offers significant opportunities for the growth of adhesives market during the forecast period. However, volatile raw material prices hamper the growth of this market to some extent.

The global adhesives market is mainly segmented by type into non-reactive adhesives (water based adhesives, solvent based adhesives, pressure sensitive adhesives, and hot melt adhesives), reactive adhesives (multi-part adhesives and one-part adhesives). The one part adhesives market is further segmented into heat curing adhesives, moisture curing adhesives, and UV curing adhesives. The market is also analyzed by application (packaging industry, construction industry, automotive industry, electronics & electrical industry, furniture & laminates industry, leather & footwear industry, consumer/do-it-yourself, medical industry and others), by origin [natural and synthetic (acrylics, polyvinyl acetate, vinyl acetate-ethylene, polyurethane, ethylene-vinyl acetate, polyethylene, and others) and by geography (North America, Europe, Asia-Pacific, Latin America, and Middle East & Africa).
