Abstracts

In response to the global trend of achieving net-zero emissions and the promotion of government policies worldwide, the EV (Electric Vehicle) market is expected to continue to grow. In addition to the cost-effectiveness of the EVs, the availability of convenient charging services is also considered a key factor influencing the subsequent development of EVs. As a result, the development of EV charging roaming services has become increasingly important in recent years. The purpose of EV charging roaming services is to integrate charging services through cross-industry cooperation, to create a more user-friendly charging environment for EV drivers and to develop more diverse business models. This report explains the development model of EV charging roaming services and explores their current status worldwide, including Taiwan.
