Abstracts

Facing the ongoing global economic downturn, the notebook PC market witnessed another subdued year in 2023. Nevertheless, following two consecutive years of declining demand, manufacturers in the notebook PC supply chain are optimistic about a rebound in 2024, driven by the replacement demand from post-COVID-19 consumers. This report offers a comprehensive outlook on global PC and notebook PC volume projections spanning from 2024 to 2028, providing regional, panel size, and CPU type/platform breakdowns. In-depth insights are also included.
