Abstracts

BOPP packaging tape is made from biaxially oriented polypropylene (BOPP) film. Polypropylene is a thermoplastic polymer. Biaxially oriented polypropylene is a PP film that is stretched in the longitudinal and transverse directions. This adds strength and clarity to the film. The structure also makes automatic and manual application of the packaging tape easier. Due to the orientation of the stretched molecules, the film has good physical stability, mechanical strength, air tightness, high transparency and gloss, and is tough and wear-resistant.
