Abstracts

Caps and closures are used to seal or close the container such as a bottle, jar, can, and tube. They are widely used across the beverage industry to package the non-carbonated drink in order to prevent the entry of any foreign particles. They provide barrier to moisture, dust, and oxygen, in turn, keep the product fresh and also enhance the shelf-life of the product. Caps and closures are produced from different materials such as rubber, plastic, metals, and paperboard. Moreover, they are also beneficial for packaging of beverage in order to preserve the flavor and taste in the food & beverage industry. Bottled water, fruit beverages, ready to drink (tea & coffee, and sports beverages are some of the major application of caps and closure in beverage.
