Conversation intelligence (CI) software is a machine learning-infused sales training software tool that records, transcribes, and analyzes sales calls. Through analyzing sales calls, CI software can identify keywords and topics of conversation so users can quickly jump to those points in the recorded sales calls and further analyze valuable insights. CI software can be used by businesses to take notes on key conversations with potential buyers, identify risky or noncompliant topics of conversation, coach new sales representatives on best practices, and any other use cases that can be used from the analysis and transcription of sales calls.
