Abstracts

The dental surgical intervention involves a number of medical procedures that involve modifying or surgery of teeth and jaw bones. Dental surgeries are usually performed by qualified oral surgeons. Dental surgeries include cosmetic dental surgeries for correcting the misalignment of jaws, dental implant surgeries, dental extraction for removal of an ailing tooth, root canal treatment in which the root canal and the pulp of the tooth are removed and many more. Dental surgeries usually are not complicated but people often cause worry for dental surgeries. Periodontal disease can spread from gums to the bone that supports the teeth. Periodontal therapy includes both non-surgical and surgical procedures. Periodontal surgical procedures include periodontal plastic surgery, crown lengthening surgery, dental implants and others. Orthodontic treatment involves gently reshape bone and move teeth into better positions. A dental implant is often a minor surgical procedure that requires local anesthesia.
