Abstracts

Disposable curd cups are a form of disposable dinnerware food packaging designed to be used only once and then discarded. The disposable curd cups come in two different packing options: paper and plastic. High-impact polystyrene (HIPS) is used to make these disposable curd cups, which come in various shapes and sizes. The disposable curd cups are lightweight, leak-proof, and compostable. The high-grade HIPS plastic in these disposable curd cups can tolerate the curd's acidity. The resealable lids on these disposable curd cups add additional security to their storage and transportation. These disposable curd cups are available in two styles: plain and printed. Disposable curd cups come in various shapes and sizes and can be customized to fit specific needs in terms of design and print.
