Abstracts

Dog Harness is used to simply restrain an dogs, but dogs may also particularly wear them to assist a person with a disability or haul people and items. These generally are made to have both a strap on the chest in front of the forelimbs, and a strap around the torso behind the forelimbs, with straps in between connecting these two for reinforcement. Having a D-ring suitable for (pet tags and) a leash to clip to it.

Most are tailored with a specific species' anatomy in mind, so as to comfortably fit it. Some come in different sizes, although many are size-adjustable with tri-glide slides to loosen or shorten the straps' length. The straps come in a range of different colors, some having patterns, and some that are meant in particular to have high visibility have a reflective coating. These straps are usually made of hemp, cotton, polyester or nylon, while the slides', rings' and buckles' material is either plastic or metal. A harness may be sold in a set together with a matching leash.
