Abstracts

Feed grade calcium hydrogen phosphate refers to calcium hydrogen phosphate which is used as a supplement for phosphorus and calcium in feed processing in accordance with relevant standards. Because the ratio of phosphorus to calcium is the closest to the ratio of phosphorus to calcium in animal bones and can be completely dissolved in animal stomach acid, feed grade calcium hydrogen phosphate is one of the best feed mineral additives recognized at home and abroad. It can accelerate the growth and development of livestock and poultry, shorten the fattening period and increase weight quickly; it can improve the breeding rate and survival rate of livestock and poultry, and at the same time enhance the disease resistance and cold tolerance of livestock and poultry, and have cartilage, chalk disease and dysentery for livestock and poultry. Prevention and treatment.
