Abstracts

Digital business initiatives require the frictionless sharing and flow of data among applications, people, processes, things and platforms — including the Internet of Things (IoT) and mobile back end as a service (MBaaS). The support of both systematic and adaptive approaches to integrating a wide variety of endpoints and data formats, domains, constituents and delivery models is what Gartner refers to as 'pervasive integration.' This is enabled by an HIP — notably, on-premises and cloud-based integration technologies securely connected so that the combination supports the integration of on-premises endpoints, cloud endpoints, and a combination of the two, for all integration patterns.
