Abstracts

Also called child carriers, hiking baby carriers are a must-have for any family adventure where you're hoping to bring along your little one. While you can use a regular baby carrier, most don't provide the back support that you'll need for a long hike. They also don't give your baby a great view of the scenery around them. Hiking backpacks are designed to let you comfortably carry a large amount of weight (baby + gear) for a long time.
