Abstracts

Food consumption is also increasing due to the surge in the global Muslim population, which is expected to drive growth in the halal food market. Due to the growing demand for dietary supplements and their health benefits, halal food ingredients are also gaining popularity in the healthcare and pharmaceutical industries. Due to the busy lifestyle, consumer demand for mobile, convenient, nutritious and functional food and beverage products is growing. Food companies focus on product innovation and provide halal products to meet growing consumer demand. In addition, the company is working to win consumer trust through several marketing campaigns and provide consumers with a variety of halal foods, which is actively stimulating market growth. The health benefits and cleanliness of halal-certified foods are also driving the halal ingredients market in the food industry. Increasing standardization in the halal certification space is expected to provide growth opportunities for halal ingredient manufacturers in the food and beverage industry.
