Abstracts

Pee funnels are small urination funnels used by women when they use a public toilet. It can be single use or reusable and helps women to urinate while standing. Pee funnels are mainly used by female travelers, athletes, the elderly, disabled, pregnant women, or women after a surgery. Most of the public loos are extremely unhygienic and a breeding ground for various kinds of infections. Pee funnels help the user to urinate without coming in contact with the unsanitary surface. The pee funnel has three different parts; the end that fits against the body, making a seal; the funnel; and the hole at the end of the funnel. It can be made of different materials based of the usability of the pee funnel.
