Abstracts

The traditional vodka consists of about 95 percent alcohol and high-quality vodkas are 96.5 percent alcohol. There is a lot of sophistication that goes into making other spirits, but vodka is the simplest spirit to make in the industry. It consists of only two parts: water and ethanol, 40 percent and 60 percent, respectively. That's it. It technically has no taste so enjoying the taste is basically saying you enjoy the taste of ethanol. Plain vodka is known for its immediate kick, and because it has no taste.
