Abstracts

Jute and a variety of fabrics are the key raw materials used in the manufacturing of sewing bags. Sewing bags come in several forms, including travel bags, cosmetic bags, lunch bags, and backpacks. Plastic bags or bags manufactured using synthetic materials pose a major threat to the environment. The severe drawbacks of using plastic bags include toxic fumes on burning, long decomposition periods, release of greenhouse gas when exposed to ultraviolet radiation, and threats to marine ecosystems. On the contrary, the use of jute bags offers fashionable and natural appeal, is cost-friendly, and durable.
