Abstracts

Short fiber thermoplastics (SFT) is a composite material made of a thermoplastic resin reinforced with short fibers. In general, with short fiber reinforcement, the fiber length is on the order of 100 times the fiber OD. Since most fibers are much smaller in diameter than a human hair, short fibers look more like powder to the unassisted eye. Short fiber reinforced thermoplastics tends to be manufactured by mixing the fibers into the molten thermoplastic. The fiber length and random orientation within the matrix make it relatively easy to achieve a good wet-out (i.e. completely encase all fibers with matrix) with this method. When compared to long and continuous fiber reinforcements, short fibers composites are the easiest to manufacture, but offer the smallest increase in mechanical properties.
