Abstracts

Spirulina beverage is loaded with antioxidants, vitamins A and E, iron, calcium, and potassium. In addition, plant-based protein is more easily digestible than other sources of protein, such as red meat, eggs, and soy. Increasing importance of vegan trend at the global level owing to rising carbon footprint with the consumption of food products obtained from animals, such as egg, meat, pork, and seafood, is driving the market for spirulina beverages. Consumers are increasingly adopting more eco-friendly food products, which can easily fulfill the daily requirement of protein and other essential nutrients.
