Abstracts

A stone coated metal roof is a roof made from steel or some other metal; the metal is then coated with stone chips and attached to the steel with an acrylic film. The goal is a more durable roof that still retains the aesthetic advantages of a more traditional roofing material. Stone coated steel roofing materials are lightweight and combine the superior performance of steel while adding to the beauty and style of any building. They are known for their durability, longevity, and versatility and are emerging as alternatives to traditional tile products, such as those made of clay or concrete.
