Abstracts

E-commerce in automotive is starting to penetrate spare parts and vehicle purchases, with implications for OEMs, dealers, LSPs and customers

In the early days of eBay and Amazon, consumers marvelled at their own boldness. Buying on the internet was a step into the unknown: sending money to strangers to purchase items that they hadn't seen and couldn't touch. Fifteen years on, e-commerce no longer seems so alien. Checks and balances serve to keep buyers and sellers honest while transaction feedback mechanisms reinforce good behaviour.

That said, e-commerce remains the exception for the second largest purchase many consumers will make, after their house or apartment: a new, or nearly new, car.

This report contains market size and forecasts of Used-car Trading E-commerce in Global, including the following market information:
