Abstracts

Water softening is the removal of magnesium and calcium minerals from your water supply through a process of ion-exchange. The softened water that's then produced is kinder to skin, doesn't leave limescale buildup on pipes, appliances or any surfaces around your home; meaning it shines for longer. The heart of a water softener is a mineral tank. It's filled with small polystyrene beads, also known as resin or zeolite. The beads carry a negative charge. Calcium and magnesium in water both carry positive charges.
