Abstracts

France is the largest country in the European Union and it is world's sixth- largest economy by nominal figure. French consumers are showing high inclination for organic food products & beverages. And, the market for these products is burgeoning on account of increasing health conscious consumers with high per capita income and wide product offerings from specialist organic stores, supermarkets and grocery stores.

According to "France Organic Food & Beverages Market By Type, Forecast and Opportunities, 2017-2022", organic food & beverages market is forecast to touch USD 9.49 billion by 2022, owing to upsurge in the number of diseases caused by consumption of conventional food & beverages grown with more chemicals and pesticides, growing awareness resulting into change in consumers' taste and preference and increasing number of specialist organic stores. France organic food & beverages market is highly competitive market with large number of organic food companies. The key companies include Distriborg France, Lactalis Groupe, Triballat-Noyal SAS, Cedilac SA, Fleury Michon Nutrition & Santé SAS, Hipp and many others.

In 2016, 'Organic Dairy Products' category accounted for the largest market share in the country's organic food & beverages market, and was closely followed by 'Organic grocery products including sweet and salty groceries. North West region is the largest regional market for organic food & beverages in France, as it is home to tens of millions of French consumers with high personal disposable income. French organic food & beverages industry saw strong growth, owing to institutional support from French Government as well as European Union. Moreover, improvements in macro-economic policies, like moderate inflation and low interest rates also boosted consumers' sentiments and organic industry emerged as one of the beneficiary.
