The report provides comprehensive analysis as well as strategic insights into the overarching strategic positioning of the World's 15 leading Defense & Aerospace Companies through a Strategic Factor Analysis Summary (SFAS) framework analysis incorporating a holistic assessment as well as comprehensive analysis of the Business Structure, Market Positioning, Portfolio Performance, Business Strategies & Plans and degree of Environmental Responsiveness against the backdrop of an evolving industry landscape & shifting global dynamics with strong tailwinds driving tremendous growth momentum in the commercial aerospace segment while the defense segment witnesses a cyclical downswing marked by defense budgetary cuts underway across most traditional markets. The report provides an overall SFAS score on each of the 15 leading companies in the Global Defense & Aerospace industry based on an analysis of each company's strategic positioning & the degree of responsiveness to its internal & external environment respectively, thereby, making it especially useful for competitive analysis & benchmarking.

The framework generates an insightful snapshot of the prevailing, overall strategic equation for each company by identifying, weighing, prioritizing & ranking strategic factors present in the internal & external environment through an Internal Factor Analysis Summary (IFAS) matrix followed by an External Factor Analysis Summary (EFAS) matrix based on their strategic significance & potential degree of impact along-with each respective company's corresponding degree of responsiveness to those factors.

The Commercial Aviation sector is in the middle of a significant growth phase driven primarily by growing air traffic along-with technological evolutions with steady growth projected for global air traffic & cargo traffic through the mid-2030s complemented perfectly by the introduction of new aircraft programs by almost all key industry OEMs incorporating cutting-edge technologies along with commercialization of a range of incremental as well as radical innovations by key players in the global aerospace industry value chain which has been a key driver of major fleet renewals underway across airlines globally and is ultimately transpiring into significant growth avenues marked by burgeoning order backlogs for new aircraft programs across all key industry OEMs.

The Defense segment, on the contrary, continues to face significant headwinds with defense budgets across most traditional markets under significant pressure. The embattled Defense segment, however, too, has some niche windows of growth opportunities available, created, mostly by technological evolutions & radical innovations being pursued & delivered by the industry value chain driving the generational leap in strategic as well as operational capabilities while providing significant incentive through optimized operating economics for the impending need for replacement of legacy, cold war era systems & hardware,

The framework, thus, assesses the strategic positioning & the degree of responsiveness of each company towards the present as well as emerging market & industry dynamics to be able to harness potential growth opportunities effectively by leveraging its structural & core strengths while negating the threats simultaneously.

SFAS, as a framework, thus, scores over the traditional SWOT analysis framework, in terms, of its ability to quantify strengths, weaknesses, opportunities & threats respectively based on the potential degree of effect of each strategic factor being analyzed and the company's commensurate degree of responsiveness to that, thereby, making it much more effective from the perspective of strategic planning and from a competitive assessment & analysis standpoint with the creation of a quantitative strategic snapshot on the company.
