Abstracts

T&D networks are growing rapidly, causing demand in the power infrastructure market sector to grow in tandem as networks expand and existing infrastructure ages. As a result, there is a growing market for retrofitting and refurbishment. This NRG Expert report and database provides an analysis of the global power infrastructure market, which includes electrical power transformers, switchgear and substations. It provides data and forecasts for this sector's annual demand, capital expenditure and MVA capacity. This data and analysis is essential for identifying the opportunities in this sector.
