Abstracts

The electricity metering market alone expects investment of US$12 billion by 2015. This product provides in-depth insight into what is going on in this fast growing market. The database contains a worldwide, multi-meter overview which lists the value per utility metering segment for the year 2012, forecast to the year 2016. It shows where investments are taking place in the metering industry and what the market will look like in 5 years in these key regions. Included with purchase is a concise industry briefing. It provides insight that compliments the database, provides analysis of the state of the gas, water and electricity metering sectors, discusses the drivers in the metering industry, shows the major player's regional market shares and explains the methodology and assumptions used by NRG Expert.
